New Rental Service from Fisnar Inc.

Fisnar Inc is pleased to announce its next positive and progressive move to strengthen its business by introducing a new rental service for all Fisnar Robot systems. “This new service will allow companies that have an urgent need for automation, but no short term capital expenditure plans, the ability to acquire a much needed production tool that they may not have been able to afford previously” Commented Vladimir Siroky, President of Global Operations for Fisnar.

In these trying economic times Fisnar will continue to seek ways to help and strengthen its relationships with clients that may need a more flexible approach to sustain their automation requirements. The demand for a rental solution with an option to buy is a natural progression in the industry. “The long term objective is for Fisnar to become a recognized innovator not only in dispensing automation but also in its approach to doing business. It makes sense for us to service a client base that is facing the financial constraints of downsizing but having to continue to compete in a diminished global economy” Stated James Dornan, Director of Marketing for Fisnar.

Fisnar Inc is a world leader in fluid dispensing and dispensing automation. Its automation solutions are currently used in the automotive, electronics, medical manufacturing, pharmaceutical and emerging energy industries. With worldwide operations, Fisnar is moving forward with this positive business venture that will strengthen its client base and enhance the reputation of Fisnar in its domestic market.
