

PENTAIR TO SHOWCASE HOFFMAN, SCHROFF AND CADDY PRODUCTS AT BICSI 2015

BICSI exhibition will be first where Pentair customers can experience the benefits of the ERICO acquisition

ANOKA, Minn. — September 21, 2015 — Pentair will exhibit its Hoffman, Schroff and newly acquired CADDY branded products at the 2015 BICSI Fall Conference & Exhibition, to be held September 21–23 in Las Vegas, N.V. in booth numbers 227 and 245 respectively.

Pentair’s standard and custom solutions are ideal for designing and protecting data centers, small business networks, and mobile telecom equipment. Schroff’s modular data center infrastructure solutions provide high flexibility with fast delivery and manageable costs, while Hoffman enclosures, climate controllers and accessories protect vital electrical and electronic components to help keep operations up and running smoothly. The CADDY product line offers a full range of fixing, fastening and support products for a wide range of electrical installation, datacom and telecommunications applications.

“With the recent acquisition of ERICO and the CADDY line of fixing, fastening and support products, Pentair is excited to expand our offering to the information technology systems market,” said Anna Reszetylo, Vice President of Global Marketing & Customer Care, Technical Solutions, Pentair.

“By bringing the CADDY, Hoffman and Schroff lines together in Pentair, we are offering real value to end users,” said Andy Henderson, Chief Commercial Officer, Engineered Electrical & Fastening Solutions, Pentair. “The complementary nature of the products and applications provide customers in the datacom and telecom industries with the ability to rely on a single provider of high quality solutions to serve many of their needs.”
