Vogt AG Verbindungstechnik

creating connections

Vogt AG Verbindungstechnik has been a leading European manufacturer of precision parts for fine tubing, precision stamping parts and combined plastic-metal parts since the year 1962. Our views on quality are paired with an environmental approach that is applied consistently in the manufacturing processes and that strives to ensure that raw materials are used in a way favourable to natural resources. In addition to an extensive range of standard products we also offer solutions in the field of customized special products. We focus on sustainable, innovative and holistic solutions, and we are a capable partner when it comes to reliability, quality and security.

In the field of customized products there is above all one thing that the technical and production departments have in common: competence. Vogt AG Verbindungstechnik has gained expertise over many years and is known as the leading specialist in the manufacture of complex products. By our constructive approaches to solutions we offer our customers significant manufacturing advantages, as well as notable reductions in cost, for parts and complete assemblies. We start from just the point where things get difficult!

Making our own tools

A decisive element contributing to the success of our connection systems is the fact that we make our own tools, because only first-class manufacturing tools can guarantee consistent top quality.

Vogt AG Verbindungstechnik –
because good connectors are always a matter of trust!
